THE GALLINGER INVESTIGATION.

A Very Uneventful Session On The Opening Day.

The first day's session of the civil service commission's investigation of ex-Governor Busiel's charges against Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, being held at Concord, is over. Viewed as a contest of rival leaders of the Republican party in this state it has been interesting, but not blood-curdling. It looked much to the casual observer as if the bout Tuesday was but a preliminary exhibition for scientific points, and that the real work—the heavy left swings for the solar plexus, and things of that sort—was still to come. There are those, however, who insist that nothing of a more exciting nature will take place in the remainder of the contest than has been noted already.

Senators Chandler and Gallinger faced each other, but rather carefully. Occasionally there would be a light tap landed by the one or the other, while there were a few good ones, but there were no long periods of heavy hitting and the honors were even.

Senator Gallinger left the Eagle hotel, when adjournment was taken, with a smile on his face. "How do I look?" he queried, and then quickly added, "They don't seem to have hurt me much yet. I have been looking all day for something that would hurt me, but they have been very easy so far."

The witnesses, in addition to ex-Gov. Busiel, who was examined, were Senator Chandler, Postmaster O. D. Knox of Manchester, James O. Lyford, naval officer of the port of Boston, and Col. Rufus N. Elwell of Exeter, collector of the port of Portsmouth. All of them stated that they had no personal knowledge of any request for a contribution to the campaign fund being made by Senator Gallinger, during the last campaign or at any other time.

Colonel Elwell of Exeter, collector of the port of Portsmouth, was questioned as to whether he was present as a voluntary witness, and "said he appeared" at the request of ex-Governor Busiel.

Commissioner Brewer, who examined all the witnesses, asked Colonel Elwell whether during the campaign of 1896 he had received a circular letter, asking him to contribute to the Republican campaign fund. The witness replied that he had received one from Mr. Thayer. He was shown the copy of the circular identified by Mr. Busiel, and admitted that he thought it was "somewhat like" the one he received, but was not sure that it was like it. He saw no name on the paper received by him save that of Mr. Thayer, treasurer of the state committee, and thought it came from him at his bank.

Questioned further, Colonel Elwell said he did not respond to this request. "I made a contribution to my town committee," he said, "as I always do, but no other."

As he recalled it, the witness said, the request mailed him was from Mr. Thayer's bank; he remembered nothing more.

Colonel Elwell said he resigned from membership in the Republican state committee when he assumed his federal duties, in March, 1896, but the committee did not meet to act upon the resignation until fall.

The witness stated that he had no knowledge as to the so-called assessment letters, as to who sent them out or anything else. He knew of the workings of the committee before, but not in this campaign.

Senator Chandler asked to have Colonel Elwell questioned as to the emoluments of his office. They were, he replied, small—from a few hundred to a couple of thousand dollars a year. He could not state what they were last year. He could not remember whether Mr. Thayer's letter stated an amount desired from him or not.

The testimony in the main would not be of any interest to the general public. Adjournment was made until ten o'clock this forenoon.

SITUATION IMPROVES

Texas Floods Slowly Receding and Relief Is in Sight.

THE LIST OF VICTIMS GROWS.

Reports From Some Sections Show a Greater Death Rate Than Was at First Expected.

Governor Sayers Adopts a System of Distribution of Supplies—State Organizations Asked For Assistance—The Water in Some Places Falls Below Danger Line.

Dallas, Tex., July 11.—Clear weather is reported throughout Texas and the flood situation shows considerable improvement. The Western Union wires are working direct from Dallas to Galveston for the first time since July 1. Small armies of laborers are scattered along the Central, the Santa Fe, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, the International & Great Northern and the Southern Pacific in the flood district wherever the waters have subsided enough to push repairs. It will be at least ten days before these repairs can be continued with anything like regularity. It will be longer than that before the different lines are in their former running order.

The following bulletin has been received from J. J. Penn of Duke, in Fort Bend county: "Boats just returned from exploring down the Brazos, toward Columbia and Velasco, report the distress as being beyond description. The loss of life is very large—much larger than heretofore reported or expected."

Relief work is being pushed vigorously. All of last week had to be devoted primarily to life saving and to furnishing subsistence as well as could be done. From now on the relief work will be directed to supplying all the sufferers with the necessities and as many of the comforts of life as possible. This is going to be an enormous task. No one estimates the number of homeless persons at less than 40,000. The absolutely needy will swell the number to twice these figures. In addition to food supplies, clothing is needed. A large proportion of the refugees are practically naked. At present temporary shelter only is provided for. Thousands of negro cabins and farm dwelling houses are gone. The planters have lost so heavily that most of them are unable to replace their lost plantation quarters.

Help from outside the State is badly needed, but personal appeals to the State will prevent open appeals. Gov. Sayers has made special appeals to all State organizations for assistance. He has divided the flooded district into geographical sub-divisions and named the places where certain blocks of supplies will be sent. The persons authorized by the Governor to receive aid for the sufferers are: E. Hannay, at Waller, Hempstead county; the Mayor of San Felipe, in Austin county; Capt. T. P. Sotter, at Richmond, Fort Bend county; the Hon. A. W. McVey, at Caldwell, Burleson county; E. P. Curry at Pecos, Washington county; J. A. Foster at Carver, Robertson county; the Hon. G. Adams at Bryan, Brazos county; and W. N. Norwood, Sr., at Navasota, Grimes county.

Reports from Sealy, San Felipe, Angleton, Brookshire, Thompson and other places north of Richmond, say the water has fallen below the danger point. Bodies of dead horses, mules, cattle, hogs and farm animals are common, and the prevailing situation is also making trouble. Epidemics of sickness are feared.

About a dozen dead bodies of negroes have been found scattered among drifts where the water is receding. More will be found, as the waters leave the overflowed districts.

Say Wife Killed Him.

Eric, Pa., July 11.—Clarence Shattuck, one of the proprietors of a billiard room at Four-mile Creek, near here, was shot and killed and his body placed on the tracks of the Erie motor line. His wife, Ella Shattuck, is locked up in the Erie police station, charged with murdering him. An examination of the body by Coroner Steinmetz showed that the man had been shot in the head, arm and back. Two bicyclists who were near the roadway in the immediate neighborhood of the trestle heard a cry of "Murder!" twice before the shots were fired, and they saw a woman hurry down toward the mouth of the creek.

Unconscious for Seventy-eight Days.

New Albany, Ind., July 11.—Clarence Madlung, six-year-old son of J. R. Madlung of this city, is a sufferer from a remarkable case of spinal meningitis. For 78 days the child has been dangerously ill of the disease, and for two and a half months he has lain in a semiconscious condition, apparently at death's door. There has been no perceptible change in his condition either for better or worse, and the tenacity with which the child hangs onto life is looked upon with amazement by the physicians. During the first few days of his illness the child lost his hearing, speech and sight.

Soldier Brought Back a Bride.

Altoona, Pa., July 11.—John D. Fenton, Company I, returned to his home in Greensburg with a bride. On the trip to the Philippines the boys carried quite a while in San Francisco. The girls of that city showed them so many attractions that, according to Fenton's story, a dozen weddings will likely result. Fenton repeats the story that several American soldiers have taken Filipino brides, but says none of the Pennsylvania boys have.

Julby and Wife Under Arrest.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 11.—Charles Julby and his wife, who were arrested here on a charge of passing a forged check for $200, have been taken to Dayton, Ohio, to answer to similar charges. Detective Farrell, of this city, took the pair east.

HERE'S A HERO OPERATOR.

Abernethy Blocked Train Before Falling Unconscious.

Wilmington, Del., July 11.—William Abernethy, block operator for the Delaware Railroad at Glan's crossing, below Middletown, was discovered at his desk in the tower bleeding and unconscious from wounds on the head. He had been assaulted by two negroes, who robbed him of $25.

Before becoming unconscious Abernethy sent the signals in both directions to stop coming trains, and the signals, coupled with the fact that no response was received to whistling, caused the crew of a southbound train to make an investigation.

But the precautions taken by the brave and unselfishly minded operator prevented the possibility of train collisions.

A posse was promptly organized and the assailants were traced to Summit bridge, about seven miles distant, where they were arrested and taken to jail.

They were James Young and Chester Rasin, of Uniontown, Md.

New Rule on Jersey Central.

Plainfield, N. J., July 11.—A civil service examination for the baggage-men employed on the Jersey Central road is one of the new reforms instituted on that road under its new management. All of the men in this department of the service of the road will be compelled to undergo an examination to hold their positions. The questions to be included in the examination will concern the route of a piece of baggage from one station to another on the same line or on different lines and the manner of tracing lost articles.

Peacemaker Was Killed.

Washington, July 11.—Charles Oliver, a farmer, was stabbed to death by Charles Armstrong at Jackson Mill, Fairfax county, Va. Charles and William Armstrong quarreled. William Oliver, brother of the man that was killed, accompanied the Armstrong brothers. This action infuriated Charles Armstrong, and he turned upon the peacemaker with a knife. Charles Oliver saw his brother's peril and rushed upon the knife-wielder, only to receive the fatal blow.

She Died of Fright.

San Francisco, July 11.—Death called Dr. Mary C. Edmunds, a well-known physician of this city, in tragic fashion at her home, 913 Bush street. The accidental setting off of a burglar alarm wrought up her nerves to such a strain that she suffered death by fright. She went to a window and blew a whistle. Help came, but just as she opened the front door she tottered and fell dead.

No Strike on Metropolitan.

New York, July 11.—All chances of a strike on the Metropolitan Street Railway Company's lines have been removed by the action of a large body of the motormen, gripmen and conductors employed by the line, said to be 95 per cent. of the whole number, in repudiating the actions of those who are agitating certain alleged grievances.

Eraser Saved His Life.

Chicago, July 11.—A steel eraser which S. C. Woodward of 8124 Emerald avenue carried in his vest pocket saved his life when he was attacked and shot at by two robbers. A bullet from a revolver in the hands of one of the highwaymen struck him over the right breast, but glanced from the eraser and did no injury.

Hiccoughed Himself to Death.

Auburn, Ind., July 11.—Dr. S. D. Johnston, who was the first man to practice dentistry in Dekalb county, died after an illness of two weeks. He was taken with severe hiccoughing, and this caused his sudden death. Dr. Johnston was born in Wayne county, Ohio, 63 years ago. He was a Lieutenant in the Civil War.

To Build Big Power House.

Anderson, Ind., July 11.—Contracts have been let for a $250,000 power house to be erected at this point at once to supply power for the entire system, operative and prospective, of the Gas and Electric Railway. It will be the largest power house of the kind in the Central States.

Ohio Will Recognize Bryan.

Cleveland, O., July 11.—W. J. Bryan, who has just completed a trip through Ohio, will attend the State convention at Zanesville. He expects indorsement there of himself and the Chicago platform, and this much seems to be assured as a result of his visit.

Deaf Woman Killed.

Eaton, Ohio, July 11.—Mrs. Sarah Shank, living at Union road, along the Dayton and Western Traction, was run down and instantly killed by a car. She was deaf, and a subconductor was wearing made her totally oblivious of the approaching car.

Portions of a Man.

Freemont, Ohio, July 11.—Portions of the remains of a man were found scattered along the Wheeling and Lake Erie track north of the city and later identified as those of William Krawetski. It is supposed Krawetski had been drinking.

Newsboy Drowned at Cairo, Ill.

Cairo, Ill., July 11.—Arthur McCraven, a newsboy aged 18 years, was drowned in the Ohio River and his body has not been recovered. He attempted to jump from a barge to the steamer Mayflower but stumbled and fell into the river.

Slashed by a Burglar.

Evansville, Ind., July 11.—George H. Hartman, a farmer living in Perry township, two miles from this city, was attacked by a negro burglar and badly slashed about the face and hands. He cannot recover.

Congressman Walker Free.

Bristol, Tenn., July 11.—The jury in the case of Congressman James A. Walker, charged with shooting with intent to commit murder, rendered a verdict of acquittal, after having been out only 25 minutes.

IT'S A MANLY ACT.

A Portsmouth Citizen Speaks For the Benefit of His Fellow Citizens.

A plain, straightforward statement. A graceful acknowledgment of facts. Telling a personal experience. Making it public for the public good. Is a manly act.

No wonder there are skeptics. A Portsmouth man speaks here. Speaks in the interest of humanity. Shows the way to our citizens. Removes the stumbling block of doubt.

Great local indorsement. No better proof can be had. None better should be asked. Portsmouth people should know what is the true kidney remedy.

Distinguish it from many imitations. Know that Doan's Kidney Pills are the only genuine. There are many kidney remedies—but only one cure.

Other kidney pills, but only one Doan's.

And they cure kidney ills. We say so—our neighbors prove it. Read this case:

Mr. William R. Weston of No. 1 Woodbury avenue, says: "For a year or more I had kidney trouble, sometimes attacking me more severely than at others. In every instance I had more or less dizziness, backache, headache, soreness over the kidneys, pains shooting up between the shoulders or down the thighs, and too frequent action of the kidney secretions. I could not do anything that required me to bend forward, and to assume an upright position after sitting for a little caused sharp twinges to shoot through the small of the back. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and it occurred to me to try them. I got a box at Pillsbury's pharmacy, in the Franklin block. Well, they were right to the spot at once. I never got anything to approach them. I can honestly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and you can use my name in this respect, for I have every confidence in them as a remedy."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

DEWEY HOME FUND.

Has Now Reached $13,148.74—Many Desirable Sites Offered.

Washington, July 11.—The Dewey home fund, now in the hands of Treasurer Roberts, amounts to $13,148.74. Treasurer Roberts said that he had been informed by gentlemen interested in collecting popular subscriptions that after the $13,000 mark had been reached contributions would come in more satisfactorily. "I hope it will prove so in this case," he said. Speaking of the various sites offered for the Dewey home, Treasurer Roberts said the committee would consider none of them. Some very desirable sites, he said, had been tendered, and others not so desirable, but the committee would not accept any of them. The money will be raised and the Admiral will have the say concerning its disposition.

President and Cabinet Ignore Alger

Washington, July 11.—Signs that Secretary of War Alger is no longer in the confidence of the President, multiply daily, and his resignation from the cabinet seems certain. He has been summoned as counsel in the War Department affairs by Adjutant General Corbin. It is announced that only one of the appointments recommended by the Secretary of War for the offering of the new provisional regiments was made. His advice, it is said, is no longer sought as to the conduct of affairs in the Philippines. The Secretary of War it is said, was not invited to the conference at the White House, in which Governor Roosevelt participated, and in which War Department affairs were discussed.

Furnaces in Bad Shape.

Seattle, Wash., July 11.—The engineer corps of the battleship Iowa discovered serious injuries to her furnaces when making a final overhaul at Port Orchard on Saturday. Two furnaces were nearly burned out and another attempt to fire them would have caused a breakdown and possibly serious injury to the ship. Orders have been placed with a local foundry for the pieces necessary to make repairs, which will take fifteen days. Her long run from New York to San Francisco is said to have caused the trouble. The Iowa's officers are congratulating themselves that the trouble was discovered before the ship started to sea.

Thief Stamped By $40,000 Draft.

Cleveland, O., July 11.—A pickpocket at the Union station stole a $40,000 New York draft. It was as unmanageable to him as an elephant would have been, so he threw it into a mail box. The draft has been recovered. It was drawn by the Coal and Iron National Bank of Cleveland on the National Bank of the Republic of New York in favor of F. L. Fuller, cashier of the Loraine County Banking Company, and was stolen from him as he was boarding a train for New York.

Relief in Six Hours

Distressing kidney and bladder disease relieved in six hours by "New Great South American Kidney Cure." It is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in bladder, kidneys and back, in male or female. Relieves retention of water almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is the remedy. Sold by George Hill Drug at Portsmouth, N. H.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Years of suffering relieved in a night.

Riching piles yield at once to the curative properties of Doan's Ointment. Never fails. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Brought From Mexico.

Auburn, Ind., July 11.—Eugene Girardot, an engineer of this city, was killed in a railroad wreck in Mexico. His remains were brought here for interment.

Appointed Census Supervisor.

TO FIGHT THE TRUSTS

Letters Coming From Governors of Various States.

ATTORNEYS GENERALS INVITED

Governor Andrew E. Lee of South Dakota Thinks the Movement is an Excellent One.

David M. Campbell, Attorney General of Colorado Desires to See an Organization of the Common People Formed to Fight the Rapidly Growing Trusts—Colorado Word Picture.

Austin, Tex., July 11.—Gov. Sayers has received a letter in regard to the proposed anti-trust conference to be held at St. Louis on Sept. 20, from Gov. Andrew E. Lee, of South Dakota, who said:

"I believe the movement is an excellent one. For it will take the united effort of at least a majority of the States if they expect to succeed in counteracting the evil of the gigantic combinations that are being formed and are being constantly multiplied. It is our duty to try by every honorable means possible to subjugate these monopolies. If their absolute control cannot be accomplished in legislation, in my opinion the only remedy remaining is government ownership of transportation and other last industries that are now being manipulated by the capitalists directly against the interests of the masses. I am not prepared to say at this time whether I shall be able to participate in your deliberations upon what I consider to be the greatest question before the American people; but if not I shall take pains to appoint an able man to represent our State in your conference."

On July 1, Attorney-General T. S. Smith addressed letters of invitation to the Attorney-Generals of the several States requesting their attendance at the St. Louis conference. He has received a number of replies. Attorney-Generals Edward C. Crowe, of Missouri; Jeff Davis, of Arkansas; William B. Taylor, of Indiana; and Milton L. Eby, of Iowa, accept the invitation. In announcing his intention to be present Attorney-General David M. Campbell, of Colorado, writes:

"I am heartily in favor of the establishment of a national anti-trust organization, making it a close organization and extending its branches to every city, into every county, into every township in every State in this Union, so completely binding the people together that class of our common people who live more from their labor than from their capital—as to absolute throttle every conception of a trust or monopoly which exists for the purpose of preying upon the people. I do not share in the belief that the primary object of the formation of trusts is to deprive the people of the cost of production, but I am firmly of the belief that the underlying principle in the establishment of trusts is to compel the people by its demands and dictates to lie trembling at its feet until they deliver up their property piece by piece and their liberty inch by inch, until a few trusts or combinations own the property of the people, control the politics of the government and mete out to the people only such scraps of liberty as will quench his thirst and satisfy him for the time being. I believe the safest plan to pursue is that of a national organization."

Western Reserve University.

Cleveland, July 11.—Mrs. H. V. Harkness, of New York, has given $30,000 toward the erection of a chapel for the College of Women of the Western Reserve University. President Thwing states that this is the second large gift which Mrs. Harkness has made. She gave $50,000 three years ago to found a Biblical Chair in memory of her daughter, Florence Harkness Severance.

No Poison in the Pie.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 11.—Dr. J. G. Demelshock has made a chemical analysis of a part of a pie sent to Mrs. Corp. Storer, in Coldwater, a few weeks ago, which was supposed to contain poison and to have been sent by some one who desired to kill the young woman. The County authorities, therefore, have dropped the investigation of the case.

Australia's Lattimer Riot Claims.

Vienna, July 11.—The "Fremdenblatt" asserts that the United States Government declines to submit the matter of compensation for the killing of Austro-Hungarian subjects in the strike riots at Lattimer, near Hazelton, Penn., to arbitration.

To Build a Big Cotton Mill.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 11.—C. E. Buck of Richmond, Va., and a party of wealthy Eastern capitalists have formed a company to erect a mammoth 5,000-spindle cotton mill at Kensington, Ga. The mill will cost about $500,000.

Explosion in California Mine.

San Francisco, July 11.—There was a premature explosion of giant powder in Melon's mine in Calaveras county. Nicholas May, a miner, was killed and three other miners are imprisoned in the tunnel.

The Plague in Egypt.

Alexandria, July 11.—Three more cases of plague have been reported here. The authorities are disconcerted with the sanitary precautions and have threatened trouble.

Brought From Mexico.

Auburn, Ind., July 11.—Eugene Girardot, an engineer of this city, was killed in a railroad wreck in Mexico. His remains were brought here for interment.

Appointed Census Supervisor.

STEAMER PORTIA WRECKED

All of Her Passengers and Crew Landed Safely.

Halifax, N. S., July 11.—The Red Cross steamer Portia, from New York bound in to Halifax, with seventy-five passengers on board, was wrecked off Flinn's island, off Sambro, a point fifteen miles to the eastward of Halifax. The disaster occurred during a thick fog. Everybody on the steamer, 117 all told, were landed on the island in safety and are being well cared for there. They will be transferred to the mainland, only a short distance away, as soon as possible. Captain Barrill with a boat's crew rowed to Sambro, whence he sent the news of the wreck to Halifax.

The Portia is full of water and will prove a total loss. She had a large cargo on board for Halifax and Newfoundland. The passengers are nearly all summer tourists.

The disaster occurred shortly before 7 p. m. The place where she struck is known as Big Fish Shoal, and is one and a half miles west of the light on Sambro Island.

Shot to Death in Church.

Dallas, Tex., July 11.—While services were in progress at the First Christian church here Professor Lipcomb was shot dead by J. T. Carlisle, a cousin of ex-Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, directly in front of the pulpit from behind the altar. Several persons sitting in the same pew with Professor Lipcomb seized Carlisle's arm and held him from firing again. Professor Lipcomb was principal of the Central High School, and came here four years ago from Nashville, Tenn. John T. Carlisle, until recently was principal of the High School. It is believed that his removal had actuated the shooting. He attributed his loss of position to Professor Lipcomb's influence. Carlisle is a native of Kentucky.

Watkins Admits Blame.

New York, July 11.—Why the American line steamship Paris struck and was wrecked on the Manacle rocks on the morning of May 21 has been made plain. It came in Captain Frederick Watkins's report, which was given out by the local Board of Steamboat Inspectors. The inspectors also made public their report relative to Captain Watkins's statement. The board has suspended the commander of the Paris for two years for the negligence which he admitted. The grounding of the Paris occurred through an error made by Captain Watkins in the reckoning.

Lieut. Frank Inman Dead.

Philadelphia, July 11.—Lieut. Frank Inman, assistant Quartermaster, U. S. Army, died here of Bright's disease, aged 50 years. Lieut. Inman enlisted in New York City on August 22, 1862, in the 133d New York Volunteer Infantry. In October of that year he was appointed regimental quartermaster sergeant, and in August, 1863, became first lieutenant and regimental quartermaster. He was mustered out June 5, 1865. In September, 1868, he entered the quartermaster's department as clerk, serving continuously until his last illness.

Two Killed; Five Hurt.

San Francisco, July 11.—A collision between a freight and a passenger train bearing delegates to the National Educational Association Convention at Los Angeles occurred at Newman, Cal. Two passengers, Mrs. Thomas, of Seneca Falls, N. Y., and Mrs. Harris, of St. Louis, were killed and five others slightly injured.

Bryan Talking in Colorado.

Colorado Springs, Col., July 11.—Hon. William Jennings Bryan addressed an audience here that filled the Temple Theatre to overflowing. Gov. Charles C. Thomas presided. Mr. Bryan's speech was for bi-metalism and in antagonism to trusts. He received an ovation from the audience. Mr. Bryan is in splendid health.

Strike on Chicago Road.

Chicago, July 11.—Section hands employed by the Chicago Junction Railway have struck for a raise of wages from $1.35 to $1.50 a day. The men refuse to work while their demand is being considered, and considerable difficulty is experienced in moving cars at the stockyards.

Pullman Car for Returning Soldiers.

Seattle, Wash., July 11.—Arrangements are being made here by the citizens of Seattle to charter a special train of Pullman cars to bring the First Washington Regiment from San Francisco to Seattle. The regiment is now on its way from Manila, and will be mustered out at San Francisco.

Two Miners Fatally Burned.

Altoona, Pa., July 11.—Five men were injured, two fatally, by an explosion of gas in the Longman mines at Ehrenfeld. Henry and James W. Hoyer will die. The explosion was due to a defective lamp carried by Henry Hoyer.

Archbishop Ireland Returning.

Liverpool, July 11.—The White Star Line steamer Majestic, which is scheduled to sail from this port July 12 for New York, will have among her passengers Archbishop Ireland, the Earl of Yarmouth and Mr. Alexander Geddes.

Two Killed at a Grade Crossing.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 11.—A carriage in which were William M. Diem and Miss Lizzie Prengel, was struck by a Wabash train at the Walden avenue crossing, and both of the occupants of the vehicle were instantly killed.

Land Company With Large Capital.

Trenton, N. J., July 11.—The Tacoma Land and Improvement Company has been incorporated here with an authorized capital of $13,000,000. It is to be preferred stock, with 7 per cent. cumulative dividends.

Flood-Sufferers Want Corn.

Washington, July 11.—The Secretary of Agriculture has been asked to send a supply of corn to the Texas flood sufferers. He has been compelled to decline, as the department has no appropriation for such a purpose.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1899.

General Prosperity has taken command of affairs in Porto Rico. He is making plowshares and pruning hooks of the old material and after the historic models.

There was a William Lloyd Garrison of Boston, and a great man he was. There is a W. L. Garrison of Boston, and a little fellow he is. The former was a patriot.

Zola refuses to report the Dreyfus trial for one of the yellow journals. He evidently feels that he must draw the line somewhere for the sake of his literary reputation.

Free schools have been established in Manila by the American authorities. Thus again we observe the cruel Yankee plan to oppress the Filipinos by teaching them to be decent.

Official reports show that the courts of Michigan granted an average of five divorces a day during the entire year of 1898. Experts contend that it wasn't a very good year for divorces, either.

Another revolution is impending in Guatemala, according to the latest advice. Having got through June without any revolution at all, that country feels that it is entitled to have two of them in July.

Nobody would particularly regret the election of John James Ingalls to congress from Kansas. Mr. Ingalls is a very clever young newspaper man, and the press is entitled to some recognition in political affairs.

So strong has the movement for art reform become in Chicago that its leaders now demand the abolition of billboards. The next step will probably be to suppress the sarsaparilla chrome and the chewing-gum poster.

Cincinnati's great Saengerfest last week resulted in a musical triumph and a deficit of $55,000. The harmonic features of the affair were superb, but the crowds in attendance were insufficiently supplied with dividend-paying thirst.

General Miles has lately been addressing labor meetings in Pennsylvania and plying parties in Ohio. There is a growing impression that the general seriously believes that there is a presidential boom awaiting him somewhere down the road.

THE INTERVIEWER.

"I will never have anything more than a plain screen door on my house," remarked a man. "There is nothing so common as a screen door and the door that is seen in the doorway at a beautiful mansion may be of the same general architecture as the one that is placed on the door of a novel. On that account I cannot bring myself to buy a door that is built on a fancy plan for I expect to see one in every doorway in the country."

"I believe," said a hardware dealer, "that the number of people who take an interest in home improvements is increasing. In our lawn mower business, each year, which shows the tendency toward keeping the lawns in better and prettier shape. It is also noticeable that all over the city the lawns are being cared for better and better, each year. It is gratifying, too, because we sell the mowers."

"Since the change of style in the seating of open cars it has been a question as to what constituted the three seats," said a P. K. & Y. official. "The permission for 'smoking in the three rear seats' has given rise to this. Now the order means literally what it says, the three rear seats of the car. On the ordinary street car with the seats all facing one way, there has never been any question as to the rights of the smokers. With the advent of the larger cars came the extra seat on what seems to be the ordinary street car, the rear platform, but which by the railroad men is known as the rear seat of the car. That seat faces to the rear, and according to the general manager, counts just as much as a seat as the others that face the other way. The orders issued to the conductors on the road are to confine smoking to three rear seats, and of course it is one is considered a part of them. Many of the passengers and some of the conductors on some of the roads have been in the habit of regarding the rear seat when it faced outward, as an extra seat, and counting three from the rear with the first of those facing to the front. At least some of the conductors have seemed to do this by their silent acquiescence in allowing the smokers to occupy four of the rear seats of the car."

"Put your money on the Shamrock," is the advice of a man who is stopping at Kittery Point. "I am a yachtsman myself, and I have been on to New York and seen one of the races between the Columbia and Defender. I believe it to be almost a sure thing that the English boat will win."

PLAY GOLF AND BE STYLISH.

This Tells You Something About the Game.

The game of golf is played by two or more sides, each playing its own ball. A side may consist of one or more persons. The game consists of playing a ball from one spot or tee, into holes made in the ground for the purpose, at considerable and various distances away, in the fewest number of strokes. These holes are four and a quarter inches in diameter and at least four inches deep. The ground or spot where the ball is first placed is called a teeing ground. The territory on which the game is played is called a "links" or "golf course." The places where the holes have been located are termed "putting greens."

In the play, after a ball has been teed, any movement of the club which is intended to strike the ball is counted as a stroke. In a full course 18 holes is the regulation number, but in many cases it is not practicable to obtain satisfactory but half that number—9. The game is to make each hole in as few strokes as possible.

Between the teeing ground and the "putting green" there are often ponds; trees or walls of earth (bankers) made to catch balls played on top instead of being struck fairly, or bared places of sand caused by the sod being dug up, which are called "hazards;" all these obstacles are good for one's game, and although aggravating make one careful and accurate. One of the chief delights about the game is that you do not have to have an actual opponent, for you can play against your own score or against "bogey." "Bogey" is an imaginary score for each hole to represent par play over the course, and as you know what the "bogey" score is for each hole you know whether you are beating the "bogey" or he is beating you.

The length of the course depends entirely on the available land you have at your disposal, consequently two courses are never just alike, and this is one of the chief delights of the golfer, for, in visiting strange courses, you have the variety of scenery and it also brings out the skill of the player.

In considering the question of golf balls, there are many opinions of well-known players that might well be paid attention to as to the proper treatment of these spheres. A word of caution is given to those who try to keep balls for a long time. If they are left painted for a year it is well to drop them for a few minutes into hot water, and then cool them again before going out on the links. This preserves the paint and keeps it from cracking at the first hard stroke.

FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

How the Volunteer Regiments Will Be Received by the War Department.

Adjutant General Ayling has received from the war department a copy of the general order for the organization of volunteer regiments for service in the Philippines, and detailing the methods to be employed in securing recruits, who are to be enlisted as regulars at army recruiting stations.

In order to recruit the regiments with the least possible delay, the country has been divided into districts and a military post appointed for each, at which the recruits will rendezvous and be taken into shape for the service ahead of them. The district in which New Hampshire is located comprises all the New England states with the exception of Connecticut, and it also takes in part of New York. The headquarters will be at Elizabeth barracks, N. Y. The regiment to be raised in this section has been designated the 26th United States infantry, and Colonel

Rife of Massachusetts has been ordered to the command of it by the war department. With possibly one or two exceptions all the officers of the regiments above the grade of captain are to be taken from the regular army. The captains and lieutenants are to be taken from the several states.

ALL SORTS OF MEN.

Why does a man seldom meet another man smarter than himself? Men who at heart are the most romantic pretend to the last not to be. The man who thinks of his last end, financially, will not be in a hurry to reach it.

The nobleman who has pride of birth or birth to be proud of will not marry for money.

The man who never has lied must have endured many painful intervals of silence.

When a man says that nobody cares whether he lives or dies, he isn't advertising himself very well.

The laborer who is worthy of his hire naturally resents any but a business view of his relations to his employer.

The man who is contented may be all right in himself and in the bosom of his family, but he is not in the procession.

The man who professes religion in season and out of season is as good as anybody else, so long as he behaves himself.

More Volunteer Officers Named.

Washington, July 11.—The War Department has made public the following appointments by the President of Lieutenant Colonels of Volunteers: Capt. F. B. Bell, 6th Cavalry; Capt. Herbert H. Sargent, 2d Cavalry; Capt. John J. Brerton, 24th Infantry; Capt. E. H. Plummer, 10th Infantry.

The new officers all are graduates of West Point Military Academy, and are appointed because of meritorious service during the Spanish-American war.

Want $952,500 From Trust.

Houghton, Mich., July 11.—In the Federal Court here the first of four damnable suits, aggregating claims of $952,500 against the Diamond Match Company was begun. The Diamond Match Company has obstructed the navigation of the Ontonagon River, a stream declared navigable by the Government, for nine years, and still has 50,000 feet of logs in the river, which absolutely prevents all other lumbermen getting logs down.

$1,000 A Visit for a Doctor.

Itchen, N. Y., July 11.—An interesting case is pending in the Supreme Court of Tompkins County. Dr. B. L. Robinson, of McLean, has sued G. E. Chambers of the same village, for a bill of $10,000 for services. The physician made ten visits to the defendant's home during the recent illness of the latter, charging him $1,000 a visit. The defendant has refused to pay the bill.

$110,000 Fire in Philadelphia. Philadelphia, July 11.—The Scott Paper Mill, corner Sixth and Glenwood avenues, was totally destroyed by fire. The loss will reach fully $100,000 and is covered by insurance. The coal and lumber yard of Jesse Lukens was damaged to the extent of $10,000. About 200 persons are thrown out of employment.

Major Porter Promoted.

Washington, July 11.—Major Carlisle P. Porter of the Marine Corps has been promoted to be Lieutenant Colonel under the provisions of the law which permits officers to retire after thirty years' service on their own application, with the rank and retired pay of the next higher grade.

Clementine Man Killed by a Train. Norristown, Pa., July 11.—A man having papers in his pocket identifying him as Henry Steiner of Clementon, N. J., was struck by an express train this morning at Spring Hill and died shortly afterward. It is believed that he committed suicide.

Big Fire in a Wisconsin Town.

Chicago, July 11.—A despatch from Portage, Wis., says that a considerable portion of the town of Montello, in Marquette county, was destroyed by fire. Ten stores were burned, entailing a loss of $75,000, with practically no insurance.

Postoffice Robber.

Columbus, July 11.—J. W. Platt, alias J. W. Plerson, a Federal prisoner, has been received at the penitentiary from Virginia to serve a 10 years' sentence for postoffice robberies.

Bad Sleeping Place.

Orleans, Ind., July 11.—John T. Brown, of Paoli, was killed by the branch train two miles south of this place. He was lying on the end of the ties asleep.

GLORIOUS NEWS.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters have cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by Globe Grocery Co. Guaranteed.

"I owe my whole life to Burdock Blood Bitters. Scrofulous sores covered my body. I seemed beyond cure. B. B. B. has made me a perfectly well woman." Mrs. Charles Hutton, Ber-ville, Mich.

AN OLD PHOTOGRAPH

The train left us at a bare little station, far beyond the town we were going to, and we went back grumbling on our tracks, a dusty, unsteady mile, to our boarding house. And then we discovered it to be the one we had picked out for our choicest disregard as the train passed by. But we were sorry only until the door opened. The hall was large and cool and sweet, like Mrs. Putney herself, who held our hands and brooded over us with sincere and copious pity for our dusty plight.

"My daughter, Alice," she said, presenting a pretty girl who came forward to take us to our room. "My wife, Alice, will be charmed with a name chum." Roger said merrily, and we were all at home together at once, as though we had known one another more than six minutes by the clock.

I should have been a cynic, indeed, to expect a trouble of any kind to appear, and for three whole days Alice seemed a trifle sad or preoccupied. She smiled half-heartedly at Roger's jolliness, and went about silently for the most part, keeping much by herself. She paid even less attention to Roger than my exacting pride required. As I said, I was in a cynic, and, therefore, not prepared for war, when one day I saw among some treasures Alice was showing me in her room a faded old photograph of Roger in his schoolboy days. There was no chance of mistake. The "R to A." at the bottom of the card—I could have known it by that alone. I almost caught it out of her hands. I was so glad to see it, for I had lost it in our betwixt days and never ceased to grieve about it.

But the picture was in Alice's hand, and she was looking earnestly and sadly and wistfully at it. I turned away with my heart full. I did not doubt Alice, and did not distrust Roger. I went over every possible circumstance and back helplessly to the one simple fact. Alice had an evidently held a picture of Roger, and yet appeared not to know him when we met her.

All in the dim dawn one morning Alice came out to help the milkman pull the milk out of the well, and, as they moved about, I thought I noticed something familiar about the man. I couldn't hear what they said, and I was glad, because as it was I didn't have to move, although they were evidently talking intimately. But I did hear a "Good by, Rufus." Rufus? Why, of course, a bucolic sweetheart of my own from the next town, where I had spent some summer vacations with my mother. Poor old Rufus! And I had forgotten the dear good soul entirely! My thoughts ran back to those days, and then I remembered that it was at that house I had first missed the picture of Roger. I put two and two together in a trice, and I was in Alice's room before breakfast asking as easily as I could, "Who's that pretty boy you showed me the other day, Alice, in the military jacket?"

Alice looked up the picture again and announced with true embarrassment and great feeling: "It's a photograph of all. I don't know who it is. Rufus gave it to me because it looked like his brother—I he cared for me, and he was lost at sea, and Rufus is, and he likes me, too."

Alice must have been surprised, for I kissed her in the middle of the little story she was telling, and then I rushed to find Roger, and cried into his collar and said: "It's all right, Roger, darling; she didn't even know you, and you didn't, and I didn't, and I don't care one bit any more forever." Which incoherent story I elaborated to the dear boy's satisfaction later.—Boston Post.

Uses of Corundum. Apart from the germ form in which corundum, the crystallized oxide of alumina, is found, the mineral is largely employed chiefly for abrasive purposes, mostly in the form of corundum wheels, which are said to be twice as effective and durable as emery wheels. Corundum wheels may be regarded as rotary files the cutting points of which never grow dull. They are rapidly replacing files for cutting down metal surfaces, and taking the place of grindstones for sharpening tools. It is said that, while a file is useless when it has lost 5 per cent of its weight, the corundum grains throughout a wheel retain their cutting power so that it can be worked until quite 90 per cent of its weight is worn away. Thus it has been estimated that the same amount of work can be done with an emery or corundum wheel in about one-eighth of the time and at one-seventh the cost as when a file is used. Corundum is essentially an Indian mineral, although large deposits occur also in the United States, principally in North Carolina and Georgia; there are also valuable deposits in British Ontario.

The Dread of Snakes. "The dread of snakes is a mysterious human trait," said a New Orleans physician, "and has perplexed psychologists not a little. The great majority of snakes are perfectly harmless, but the average man is vastly more afraid of them than he would be of some dangerous wild beast. I use the word 'afraid' for its convenience rather than its accuracy, because the sentiment in point is not fear, as we commonly use the term, and has nothing to do with courage per se. It is a sort of instinctive horror and loathing, and by the way, is more common in men than in women, the impression to the contrary notwithstanding. According to the accepted theory, it is a survival from the time when serpents were among the most formidable enemies of our man monkey ancestors. The danger has disappeared, but the dread still lives, all the more terrible because it has grown vague and formless.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Spain's Big Job. "What do you think of the future of Spain?" "It will be a long time before Spain has any future. She has got to do such a lot of work over her past."

"How much of a standing army have we, papa?" "Very small, my boy. Most of it's sitting down."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

=OLD INDIA= =PALE ALE=

It is bright and sparkling and has a nice creamy taste, and is prescribed by the doctors generally as a restorative for nervous people. There are but few medicines equal to this ale. Many people who are wakeful find that a glass taken at night secures them a continuing and refreshing sleep. As a tonic for ladies and invalids it has no equal.

Directions:—One small glass full four times a day, before eating and going to bed.

It is a food as well as a medicine. It is bottled by the Newfields Bottling Co. only.

It is put up in cases of two dozen pints.

AMERICAN SKILL

The Machine shops busy with foreign orders.

The Grand Central Railway of England ordered twenty locomotives of the Baldwin Works, Philadelphia. The Midland has ordered the largest number of these machines. The manager of that line, on being sharply criticized as to why he did not give the order to British engineering works, replied, giving three reasons: "For every locomotive to America for the machine, first, he said, the best offer any of the English works would make, as to time, was to begin delivering in six or seven months, whereas the Baldwin would begin delivering at the end of four weeks after booking the order. Secondly, the American machines cost $2,500 less each than the British, and finally they were equally as good or better made, and more handsomely finished, and certainly as efficient in operation."

One reason why American works can go on more rapidly lies in the facility of plans and specifications. Locomotives are classified; the best tested machines in actual work are chosen as patterns for each class, and the manufacturers right ahead with the construction. In England three different types of locomotives the master of motive power orders, for an English railway of an English work, he insists on plans and specifications of his own. These vary more or less from all other plans, and the work is thus hindered, made slower. In short, an English railway official dictates how the machinery for his line shall be built. American locomotive builders, on the other hand, do the business. We will build machines that we will warrant to do the work specified, and we will not change our plans to meet the whims of a railway master mechanic or superintendent of motive power. The American plan of uniformity of engines of freight and passenger classes enables the works to promptly supply parts that have been broken or worn out, whereas the duplication would be tedious in English works, where each locomotive stands "in a class," so to speak, "of its own."

The considerable risk of orders from Great Britain for locomotives will result in a reform of the method of purchasing and building that line of machinery in English engineering works, or they will suffer still greater loss in the future. Enough American engines are going over to provide the means of a thorough comparison of the English with the American machine, and American builders ask nothing more than that. They put their machine on its merits against all rivals.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Foolish But Fashionable.
The devil who invented collars and cuffs had it in for the human race. He was in league with the devil. We say this in spite of the same devil and the fact that the laundries advertise in The Bee. Just think of the nonsense of it, good people. Here we are wearing stiff collars and abominable cuffs with the weather hot enough to fry eggs on the asphalt streets and they serve no useful purpose. We only wear them because they are fashionable, and few of us have sense enough to be unfashionable.

If we get out into the woods or even the back yard, off come the pesky things and we begin to enjoy life. But let us start downtown, where folks are liable to see us, and we strap a linen band around our necks and a pair of muffled shingles around our wrists. All because we've got to look pretty. At that all the blamed things do is to wilt; then they look like the daisies; but we know we've got them on, and that seems to be enough.

We have known people to put on a soiled collar when they didn't have a clean one handy and wear it just for style, when a man neck would have looked a hundred times better and been more comfortable.

While we always turn and look the other way when we see a woman in low neck and short sleeves, we must say that we favor the style for men. A décollete shirt cut low in front and ripped up the back, with no sleeves to speak of, would be just the thing. But, no. Crude fashion decrees that poor man must make a monkey of himself and walk up and down the earth full of trouble and clothes. We can't even wear the striped shirt a Mother Hubbard without fear of arrest for exposing our ignorance.

Altogether man has a tough time of it wearing collars, cuffs and things which do him no good and run up his laundry bills. There would be just as much sense in it and more comfort if he wore a brass ring in his nose instead, but that wouldn't be fashionable.

So about all we can do is to keep on being foolish and fashionable and quietly cuss the man who invented collars, cuffs and wearing apparel generally. If I've could only set the styles we might all get unburned, but we would save money and keep in the shade. Adam was a wise guy. He managed to worry along and accumulate considerable property without wearing collars, umbrellas or overcoats. He didn't have to drink ice water to keep cool or go into politics to keep hot. And his laundry bill never lost him any sleep.—Toledo Bee.

Whipping Posts.
The opinion advanced by a professional penologist at a recent convention that the whipping post had its valid and efficacious uses has apparently called forth a number of similar expressions from judges and state officials. There is nothing to condemn in the whipping post, if properly used, as in the case of wife whippers and such, excepting the sense that it is an anachronism, and it is as well to remember in this connection that the present generation has abandoned several things that it might better have retained.

HUMORS OF DIVORCE.

Some Reasons for Untying the Marriage Knot Are Laid Bare.

Although it is hardly not possible in every country to dissolve the marriage tie because a husband has an aversion to soap or because a wife has a tongue more active than her fingers, there is a ludicrous facility in many lands for getting rid of an undesirable wife or husband.
In Greece a wife, to maintain her position, must be the very "pink of propriety," and if she goes to theatre or race meeting or even dines with a friend without her husband's sanction he may send her back to her mother and bid her stay there.
Time was, and not long ago, in Crete, when a man might divorce his wife if she appeared likely to add too many quivers to his bow; and in Russia if a husband and wife wished to part for any reason whatever, all they need do was to adjourn to some public place, and in the presence of on-lookers tear a strip of muslin in two.
In Morocco it is not fashionable to be attached too long to any particular wife, and a man's social position may be gauged by the number of wives he has divorced. It is quite common for a man to have married and parted from a score of wives before he has reached the age at which the average Englishman thinks it prudent to marry.

In France, during the "time of terror," the during experiment was tried of allowing divorces at will and without any assigned cause. The result was disastrous or happy, according to the point of view; for within a year 4,000 couples agreed to part in Paris alone, and within a short time there were actually more divorces than marriages every year.
In Japan if an oblique-eyed beauty gives too much rein to her tongue, "off she goes," to learn that a discreet reticence is a virtue in a wife.
In Germany if the wife uses her husband's purse too freely he can keep the purse to himself and bid her go, while he looks out for a fraulein of simpler tastes.

In Australia a man can divorce a wife who is too fond of her cups, or rather glasses; and no Chinaman is called upon to tolerate a shrew.
From the oldest times divorce has been in some countries almost as simple a matter as untying a shoe lace. In ancient Rome a wife who was weary of his wife could free himself by the simple process of telling her to go. In biblical history, too, we learn that Abraham divorced Hagar by providing her bread and a bottle of water and sending her away.

WHITTLED TO A POINT.

People who talk too much seldom talk well.
A rare piece of acting should always be well done, and a good one should be some and sung by others.
Hero-worship is too often but another name for self-esteem.
Wise is the spinster who believes in the predestination theory.
Nothing is more expensive than the things that are presented to us.
Many sermons are aimed at the pocketbook instead of the heart.
Contentment is all well enough in its way, but it is death to enterprise.
Little things frequently annoy a man—small boarding house steaks, for instance.

We would probably find our crosses just as hard to bear were we permitted to select them ourselves.
A man is usually able to conceal his middle name while he lives, but it always crops out on his tombstone.
A jeweler says that the cheapest watch made will not vary a second in a year providing it isn't wound up.
When a man can go into a pawnshop without a quickening of the pulse or a brightening of color, it's a sure sign that he has been there before.

FACTS OF INTEREST.

It is estimated that of the whole population of the globe about 30,000 die every day.
Thirty thousand women spend their lives in driving and steering the canal boats in southern and midland England.
The robbery of graves is the only crime under Chinese law for which the thief may be justly killed on the spot by any one finding him out.
Snuff-taking, which was once a favorite form of using tobacco, is apparently dying out. At any rate, its use is confined to a small fraction of the population.
Ornithologists tell us that, when feeding, the stride of the ostrich is from 20 to 22 inches; when walking, but not feeding, 20 inches, and when terrified, 11 1/2 to 14 feet, or at the rate of 25 miles an hour.
A gold coin passes from one to another 2,000,000 times before the stamp of impression upon it becomes obliterated by friction, while a silver coin changes between 3,250,000 times before it becomes entirely effaced.

PRECIOUS STONES AS HEALERS.

Sapphires impel the wearer to all good works.
Amethyst is a cure for sore throat and glandular swellings.
Diamonds produce somnambulism and spiritual ecstasy.
Opals are fatal to love and bring discord to giver and receiver.
Coral is a talisman against thunder and evils by flood and field.
The onyx is apt to cause terror to the wearer, as well as ugly dreams.
The topaz is said to be a preventive of lung troubles and imparts strength.
Many curious notions are current in regard to the healing power of gems. It is said that the agate quenches thirst, and, if put into the mouth, allays fever.

Snuff-taking, which was once a favorite form of using tobacco, is apparently dying out. At any rate, its use is confined to a small fraction of the population.
Ornithologists tell us that, when feeding, the stride of the ostrich is from 20 to 22 inches; when walking, but not feeding, 20 inches, and when terrified, 11 1/2 to 14 feet, or at the rate of 25 miles an hour.
A gold coin passes from one to another 2,000,000 times before the stamp of impression upon it becomes obliterated by friction, while a silver coin changes between 3,250,000 times before it becomes entirely effaced.

PRECIOUS STONES AS HEALERS.

Sapphires impel the wearer to all good works.
Amethyst is a cure for sore throat and glandular swellings.
Diamonds produce somnambulism and spiritual ecstasy.
Opals are fatal to love and bring discord to giver and receiver.
Coral is a talisman against thunder and evils by flood and field.
The onyx is apt to cause terror to the wearer, as well as ugly dreams.
The topaz is said to be a preventive of lung troubles and imparts strength.
Many curious notions are current in regard to the healing power of gems. It is said that the agate quenches thirst, and, if put into the mouth, allays fever.

THE LITTLE ENCYCLOPEDIA.

The world has 200,000 postmasters. One pound of Indian tea will make 170 strong cups of tea.
The average amount of sickness in human life is nine days out of the year.
Brazil is now the principal coffee producing country of the world. In 1885 the crop was estimated at 7,000,000 bags.
In Bielefeld, Germany, there is a colony of epileptics, numbering about 1,500. The colony was established in 1868, and patients from all parts of the world go there for treatment.
The use of coats of arms as a badge for different families did not come into practice till the twelfth century. The Germans are said to have originated it, while the French developed the science.

AN APPEAL FOR THE CHILDREN'S HOME.

The managers of the Chase Home for Children appeal to the public for gifts of money of which this excellent institution is in great need. There has been much sickness among the children during the past winter, the expenses have been unusually heavy and the receipts from entertainments, etc., unusually small. By consequence the treasurer has no funds with which to pay bills that are due. The public is earnestly urged to relieve this state of things by contributions, large or small, of money. These may be sent to D. F. Borthwick, Market street, or to any member of the board of managers.

CHURCH PICNICS.

Three Sunday schools of this city had outings today. The North church pupils passed the day at Jenness beach, Rye, leaving the chapel on Middle street at 9.30 this morning. The Advent Sunday school went to York Beach, taking the eight o'clock ferry. The annual picnic of the Sunday school of the St. John's church was held today at York Beach, also. All the picnics were largely attended.

ROLL OFF WON BY WOODS.

The final roll off in the local candle pin tournament took place at the alleys Tuesday evening, the six highest men rolling. Frank Woods was a winner, running up a score of 255 pins. He was pushed hard for first place by W. J. Kehoe and Jerry Lyles, who tied at 252. It was a close and exciting contest, and was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators.

TO GIVE A BAND CONCERT.

Mr. Charles Webb, who runs the Sagamore house near the Sagamore bridge, is to run a band concert at that place Friday evening and with the electric running right past the house, it can be very easily reached from this city. Mr. Webb wishes it to be understood that no intoxicating drinks are sold there, only lunches and light drinks.

MR. ALLEN ON HIS WAY.

The U. S. dispatch boat Dolphin was signaled off Highland light, Boston harbor, at 4 p. m. Tuesday, and arrived below shortly after 8 o'clock in the evening. She steamed up to the Charles town navy yard this morning. The Dolphin has on board Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen, who should arrive here in a few days now.

BANG! DOG GONE.

Special Officer Hodgkins was called to Albany street Tuesday evening to put a quietus on an ugly dog that had run amok and driven people indoors. He captured the animal after a lively tussle, tied him securely with ropes and took him in a team down to the city dump, where one well aimed shot from a trusty revolver ended the affair.

QUITE A CENTER FOR MILK MEN.

Portsmouth is getting to be quite a centre of milkmen, especially for Newington, C. A. Badger having one hundred and four cows and D. W. Badger forty. Mortimer Hoyt, the town clerk of Newington, brings in every morning the lactical fluid from twenty-four Jerseys, and this fall will increase his herd to fifty.

A PAYING ATTRACTION.

The opportunity of crowding ten thousand people a day into this city during the visit of the squadron was lost by our business men. All that was necessary was a few hundred dollars and the great summer carnival could have been duplicated. A live city council could have set the ball in motion.

BALL AT THE WENTWORTH.

Officers of the Squadron Tendered a Grand Reception.

The final and most brilliant event in the visit of the North Atlantic squadron to this harbor, was the reception and hop tendered the officers of the fleet by the management of the Hotel Wentworth, at that magnificent hostelry on Tuesday evening.

The affair brought together some of the most distinguished and prominent people of the country, and in brilliancy it far exceeded any event ever held in the vicinity of Portsmouth.

It was delightfully informal and the gallant naval heroes were made to feel perfectly at their ease and to enjoy themselves to the utmost. Fully two hundred ladies and gentlemen from this city and the surrounding summer resorts assisted the guests of the Wentworth house in entertaining their distinguished visitors.

It was a succession of gorgeous spectacles, from the time the first coach drove up to the door loaded with handsomely gowned ladies and their escorts, until good-nights were said and the last barge put off from the pier with its party of officers for their respective ships. Manager Hill had left nothing undone to ensure the success of the affair and his guests were loud in their praise of the magnificence of the occasion.

Rear Admiral Remy entertained Captain Taylor, acting commander-in-chief of the squadron, and the senior officers of the fleet, with dinner at the yard early in the evening and they went directly from there to the Wentworth house in barges. The other officers of the fleet to the number of a hundred or more, were already there but the arrival of Captain Taylor and others from the yard was the signal for the festivities to commence.

Rear Admiral Remy, commandant of this station, was unable to be present and sent his regrets, but most of the other officers from the yard and their ladies were there and enjoyed the evening.

The elegant and spacious ball room of the house had been handsomely decorated for the event and with the officers of the ships and of the yard in full uniform, the glitter of gold lace and the entrancing toilettes and jewels of the ladies, presented a scene such as the pen could never do justice to in describing.

The American flag was most prominent among the decorations, while plants, palms and ferns were used in profusion. A large sign with the word "welcome" in colored electric lights placed over the stage added much to the effectiveness of the decorations.

Music for the ball was furnished by the house orchestra which added no small part to the pleasure of the evening. Manager Hill had also prepared an elaborate buffet lunch which was served all during the evening in the dining room by a trained corps of waitresses.

The evening was delightfully cool for dancing and it was after midnight before the last guest left the house.

KNIGHTS OF THE GOLDEN EAGLE.

Semi-Annual Installation and Social Session Will Be Held This Evening.

The regular session of Oak Castle, No. 4, at their hall this (Wednesday) evening promises to be one of much interest and enjoyment to all members of the order. The installation of officers will be followed by a banquet and social talk, music and a general good time. Visiting knights are expected to be present. All members of the castle are especially requested to be there.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

The police on Tuesday evening arrested a couple, man and wife, who are charged with forging a check of fifteen dollars on Dr. E. C. Blaisdell's name and trying to pass the same at Green's drug store.

They refused to give their names at the time of their arrest but on furnishing securities were allowed to go to their boarding house for the night.

They have been in town but a few days and have been selling cologne around to the houses. The check was presented to Mr. Green by a young boy named Philbrick and he says he was asked at get it cashed by the couple arrested. Officers Quinn and Burns made the arrest.

The man and woman were both released this morning by mutual agreement of the parties who caused the arrest.

HE FOOLED THE SURGEONS.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Recital Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the sweet Pine oil on Earth, and the best Salve in the World. 25 cents a box. Sold by Globe Grocery Co.

The fortunate possessor of hammocks at this season is to be envied. In a ramble through the city many of these delightful articles of furniture were noticed. Many of the hammocks were filled with very handsome and enticing cushions, which seemed to bid the passerby to come and rest.

The bandana neckwear has not struck the Portsmouth stores so far as known, though several young men and women are seen wearing the new styles in neckwear. This style, though consisting of the longest and oddest patterns in the broad flowing tie, is said to be in great favor in the large cities and will doubtless later become fairly popular in this city.

One of the latest wrinkles of the young woman of today is in the form and style of waist belts which they wear. This morning the most original of these designs was noticed. The wearer of this newest of belts attracted much attention, as the belt was made from the epibolion of one of the United States men-of-war,—the New York. The lettering of this ribbon was so arranged as to show the entire wording on the ribbon, and to be read by persons walking behind the wearer.

FINED $1 AND COSTS.

Postmaster Julian of Exeter Brought Into Court by Editor Herrick.

Probably one of the most sensational trials which ever took place in Exeter, and in which the principals were citizens of repute, one the postmaster and the other the editor of one of the local papers came up before Judge H. A. Shute at a special session of the police court Tuesday afternoon. The charge against Postmaster Julian by Mr. Herrick was the use of profane language towards him when he complained of the tardy delivery of his mail. This occurred more than two weeks ago, and friends of both complainant and defendant have since endeavored to induce the two parties to bury the hatchet. Mr. Herrick laid down a list of iron-clad requirements which he said the postmaster must comply with in order to earn his forgiveness, and as the respondent would not fulfill the editor's wishes, no compromise could be effected.

The trial brought out many of the representatives of the town, and the court room was filled to its utmost capacity. Both Captain Julian and Mr. Herrick had retained able counsel, the former being defended by William H. Drury of Manchester and John O'Neil of Exeter, and the latter by Congressman W. H. Moody of Haverhill, Mass.

The tilts between Attorney Drury and the complainant were many and amusing, and Judge Shute had frequently to call the court to order.

Mr. Herrick was first called and testified that he had had trouble with the postoffice officials on the first day that he entered the office. He tendered money for a box, but was told that he would not be allowed one until July 1. On two occasions, letters were withheld from him and on June 23 the same occurrence took place, on which date a letter which reached Exeter June 21 was delivered to him. He thereupon went to Captain Julian and told him that the matter must come to a stop at once. Mr. Julian claimed that the late delivery was due to an oversight, and on being told by Mr. Herrick that it was the third time that the matter had occurred, called the editor a — — liar.

After thinking the matter over for two hours, Mr. Herrick swore out a warrant for the postmaster's arrest, thinking it to be for the public good.

On cross examination, Mr. Herrick admitted that he had had trouble previously with a postmaster in Hampton, N. D., and had him ousted from his position. He said his specific complaints against Captain Julian were the withholding of the three letters, not allowing him the use of a box, insulting his local editor and directing his clerks to put no more mail in his box.

Rupert H. Ford, the stamper in the post office, was the only other witness for the prosecution. He testified to having heard the oaths uttered by the postmaster.

Captain Julian presented no witnesses. In his closing arguments, Mr. Drury maintained that the offence was committed in Captain Julian's private office, and therefore was not an offense against the public, and moved for the discharge of the respondent. The motion was overruled and Judge Shute imposed a fine of $1 and costs, amounting to $5.92.

Captain Julian appealed and furnished $100 bonds. The case now goes to supreme court.

TERMS APPROVED.

New Hampshire Railroads Purchased by the Boston and Maine.

Boston, July 11.—The railroad commissioners in an order issued today approved the terms of the purchase of the Portsmouth and Dover, Portland and Rochester, and the Saco and Portsmouth railroads by the Boston and Maine.

The petitions for approval were heard yesterday by the board. The basis of exchange is ten shares of stock of the Boston and Maine for thirteen of the Portsmouth and Dover, and share for share in the other two instances.

THE HERALD TOLD IT FIRST.

About a month ago the Herald announced that the Portsmouth and Dover railroad had been bought by the Boston and Maine system. Other local papers ridiculed the statement as unfounded. Yesterday the purchase was approved by the railroad commissioners, as may be seen in another column of today's Herald. "Straws show which way the wind blows," and the Herald was in possession of the straws.

OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED.

A despatch from Washington says: "The President on Tuesday appointed John H. Bartlett postmaster at Portsmouth, N. H." Thus the controversy is definitely closed.

RESOLUTE TAKEN FROM DOCK.

The transport steamer Resolute was taken from the dry dock this afternoon at 1.45 o'clock. Not a hitch occurred.

THE FLEET DEPARTS.

The North Atlantic squadron left the harbor this forenoon for Portland. It was 10.10 when the massive battleship Indiana, flagship of Acting-Admiral Taylor, pulled in her anchors and headed down the bay. The Massachusetts followed in behind her, then the New York, Brooklyn and Texas, with the New Orleans bringing up the rear. Thus the line of imposing warships swept out to sea and steamed toward Portland.

Quite a number of people went down the harbor on steamers and sail boats to view the leaving of the fleet.

Pilot John Martin of Portland was on board the Indiana and piloted the fleet up the Maine coast. The ships were expected to make Portland harbor at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Late Tuesday evening the police arrested two young men on suspicion of stealing J. W. Hoyt's bicycle at the shoe factory on Saturday afternoon. They gave the names of William Price and John Daley. The former has an injured arm and answers the description of the person who was seen putting a bicycle over Hanscom's fence. Both deny taking the wheels and seemed very indignant when placed under arrest.

This morning Price confessed to Marshal Entwistle that he stole the bicycle, and said that he had sold it to an Eliot man for fourteen dollars. Assistant Marshal West rode out to Sylvester Bartlett's with him about half-past ten o'clock and found that the wheel had indeed been bought by the younger Bartlett, who was even then out riding it somewhere.

Hoyt is delighted at the prospect of getting the bicycle back. It cost him fifty dollars and is a fine machine.

He was arraigned before Judge Emery at 2 o'clock this afternoon and bound over in $200 bonds till the October term. He went to jail.

TO TOUR EUROPE.

Rev. Alfred N. Gooding and family, Mrs. John Sise and Miss Lucy Sise are to leave in August on a tour of Europe. They will pass about a year in foreign lands.
